Answer all questions.

1. Gerry and Ben are brothers and are both employed within the criminal justice system. Gerry is a chief constable of police and Ben is a prison governor. The brothers meet every week and discuss problems within their roles. Ben is concerned about the high ratio of prisoners to staff as well as a lack of funding. Gerry is also concerned about funding and the demands made on the police service. Their aunt, Magda, is a High Court judge and believes that the system of social control needs many changes to make it more effective.

(a) Outline the role of the prison service in England and Wales. [3]

2. Colin Chesterton from Newcastle claims that he has been wrongfully convicted of the charge of murder. He was found guilty by a jury at Crown Court with a unanimous verdict. He intends to appeal his conviction, and his family have started a campaign called 'Free the Newcastle One'. Colin claims the police failed to consider any other suspect, and the jury were bribed to find him guilty. In addition, he believes the judge is related to the victim, and this is why he was given the sentence of life imprisonment with a recommendation that he serves 70 years.
